

Cathleen Aubin Barton

Manager, U.S. Education,
Intel Corporation
Chandler, Arizona

Cathleen Barton is the U.S. Education Manager for Intel Corporation. She is responsible for Intel education initiatives that support success in teaching and learning science, mathematics, and engineering, the effective use of technology to improve teaching and learning of 21st century skills, and increasing the number of young women and under-represented minorities successfully pursuing education and careers in science, math, engineering and technology.

Intel Education initiatives include professional development, equipment donations, mentoring, scholarships, undergraduate research and fellowships for masters and doctoral programs, as well as outreach, awareness and education related public policy. Cathleen serves and contributes on behalf of Intel on projects and initiatives sponsored by Achieve Inc., the national Governor's Association, the National Science Resource Center Board and the Arizona P20 Council.

Cathleen received her BA degrees in Psychology and Social work from Rhode Island College and has held a variety of management positions in her 27 years at Intel.
