

Adam Supple

Adam Supple is an Assistant General Counsel at the General Services Administration (GSA). He serves as lead counsel for Suspension and Debarment. Since joining the Office of General Counsel in 2010, Mr. Supple has handled over 75 S&D cases involving a total of more than 200 distinct individuals and entities. Prior to that, he was a contract specialist in GSA's Federal Acquisition Service, where he helped manage a portfolio of financial and business services contracts valued in excess of $50 million. Before entering civilian federal service, Mr. Supple served as a Field Artillery officer with the Army's 3d Armored Cavalry Regiment from 2000 to 2004.