

Mr. Adam Goldberg

Director and Executive Architect

Department of the Treasury, Office of Financial Innovation and Transformation

Adam Goldberg is the Executive Architect at the Office of Financial Innovation and Transformation (FIT) at the Treasury Department's Bureau of the Fiscal Service. Within FIT, Adam supports financial management transformation initiatives that lead to government-wide efficiencies. He also serves as a Treasury Advisor to the Minister of Economy and Finance in the Republic of Guinea where he supports the Minister's efforts to improve cash management. Adam joined Treasury after spending six years at the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as the Chief of the Financial Analysis and Systems Branch where he was responsible for policy development and oversight to implement financial systems, reduce improper payments, and right-size real property. Prior to OMB, he held senior leadership positions at Unisys and Andersen supporting financial management and system improvement efforts at Federal agencies. Adam began his career at the Defense Logistics Agency. Adam holds a BA in Political Science and History from the University of Rochester and an MPA from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University.
