The National Science Foundation is seeking candidates for a Sociology Program Director position in the Division of Social and Economic Sciences (SES), Directorate for Social and Behavioral Sciences, Arlington, VA. The desired starting date for this appointment is August 15, 2006.

The Division of Social and Economic Sciences (SES) supports research to develop and advance scientific knowledge focusing on economic, legal, political and social systems, organizations and institutions. In addition, SES supports research on the intellectual and social contexts that govern the development and use of science and technology. SES programs consider proposals that fall squarely within disciplines, but they also encourage and support interdisciplinary projects, which are evaluated through joint review among Programs in SES, as well as joint review with programs in other Divisions, and NSF-wide multi-disciplinary panels, as appropriate. More information about SES programs, including the Sociology Program can be found on their website at http://www.inside.nsf.gov/sbe

The Sociology Program supports basic research on all forms of human social organization -- societies, institutions, groups and demography -- and processes of individual and institutional change. The Program supports research that employs both original data collections and secondary data analysis that use the full range of quantitative and qualitative methodological tools. The Sociology Program also funds doctoral dissertation research; and research projects, conferences and workshops that seek to strengthen interdisciplinary ties with programs within and external to SES.

This position will be filled on a one or two year Visiting Scientist Appointment, under the terms of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) or as a Federal Temporary Appointment. Temporary and Visiting Scientist appointments will be made under the Excepted Authority of the NSF Act with a current salary range of $91,407 to $142,449, depending on qualifications and experience. For Visiting Scientist appointments, individuals are in a non-pay leave status from the home institution and are appointed to NSF’s payroll as a Federal employee. NSF withholds FICA and provides reimbursement for fringe benefits. For Federal temporary appointments of more than one year, the usual civil service benefits (retirement, health and life insurance) are applicable. For IPA assignments, the individual remains an employee on the payroll of his or her home institution and the institution continues to administer pay and benefits. NSF reimburses the institution for NSF’s negotiated share of the costs. Individuals eligible for an IPA assignment include employees of State and local government agencies, institutions of higher education, Indian tribal governments, federally funded research and development centers and qualified nonprofit organizations. For more information regarding Visiting Scientist appointments or IPA assignments, visit our website at http://www.nsf.gov/about/career_opps.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES: In cooperation with the permanent Sociology Program Director, the incumbent encourages proposal submissions, manages the review of proposals submitted to NSF, selects well-qualified individuals to provide objective review on proposals either as individuals or as members of a panel; chairs meetings of the Sociology Advisory Panel, conducts final review of proposals and evaluations and recommends and documents final actions on proposals reviewed, manages administrative matters relating to active NSF grants, contracts, interagency agreements and cooperative agreements to ensure fulfillment of commitments to NSF. The Program Director will evaluate progress of awards through review and evaluation of reports and publications submitted by awardees and/or meetings at NSF and during site visits. The Program Director maintains regular contact with the research community, and provides advice and consultation upon request. The position also entails working with directors of other programs and other divisions at NSF in developing new initiatives and representing the agency at professional meetings. The appointment will begin in August 2006.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED: Applicants must possess a Ph.D. with training and expertise in sociology. In addition, six or more years of successful research, research administration, and/or managerial experience pertinent to the program is required.

QUALIFICATIONS DESIRED: In addition to the qualifications outlined above, further qualifications desired include:

- Knowledge and understanding of scientific principles, theories, and methods that underlie research in sociology.
- Research, analytical and technical writing skills, which evidence the ability to perform extensive inquiries into a wide variety of significant issues and to make recommendations and decisions based on findings.
- Ability to organize, implement and manage large, multi-disciplinary, broadly based, proposal driven grant programs allocating resources to meet a broad spectrum of program goals.
- Ability to meet and deal with members of the scientific community, other funding agencies and peers to effectively present and advocate program policies and plans.
- Ability to work with individuals, both technical and support staff, across a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary programs.

HOW TO APPLY: Applications may be transmitted electronically to rotator@nsf.gov. Individuals may also submit a resume or any application of your choice to the National Science Foundation, Division of Human Resource Management, 4201 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22230, Attn: E20060072-Rotators. In addition, you are encouraged to submit a narrative statement that addresses your background and/or experience related to the Program you are applying for. You are asked to complete and submit the attached Applicant Survey form. Submission of this form is voluntary and will not affect your application for employment (the information is used for statistical purposes). Telephone inquiries may be referred to Executive and Visiting Personnel Branch at (703) 292-8755. For technical information, contact Dr. Patricia White, Program Director, at (703) 292-8762 or email pwhite@nsf.gov. Hearing impaired individuals may call TDD (703) 292-8044.

The National Science Foundation provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities on a case-by-case basis. If you need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please notify the point of contact listed on this vacancy announcement.
