THIS POSITION IS OUTSIDE THE COMPETITIVE CIVIL SERVICE

Appointment to this position will be made under the Excepted Authority of the NSF Act. Candidates who do not have civil service status or reinstatement eligibility will not obtain civil service status if selected. Candidates currently in the competitive service will be required to waive competitive civil service rights if selected. Usual civil service benefits (retirement, health benefits, life insurance) are applicable for appointments of more than one year. Disabled veterans with 30% service-connected disabilities as well as other applicants with severe disabilities will be considered without regard to the closing date if applications are received prior to final selection.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES: The person selected for this position will serve as the NSF Historian. The NSF Historian researches, writes, and prepares for publication a scholarly administrative, legislative, and institutional history of the National Science Foundation. The incumbent also conducts related historical research, writing, and advisory tasks for the Foundation staff. In addition to providing advice and serving as an institutional memory within NSF, the incumbent provides advice to and performs liaison functions with other agencies of the government, nongovernmental organizations, and private individuals in matters relating to the Foundation's history. The incumbent is also the official NSF Historic Preservation Officer. Duties and responsibilities include:

- Plans and determines the scope, outline, and content of a history of the National Science Foundation by formulating projects that will lead to the proper recording and publication of a comprehensive, scholarly, and readable history of the agency's legislative, administrative, and institutional development.
- Develops and uses a peer review system that solicits comments and criticism from authorities on federal science activities and national science policy on the content and quality of draft manuscripts.
- Conducts and/or administers all phases of historical research for the NSF history, including the collection and analysis of source material, the evaluation of historical evidence, and the preparation of drafts and manuscripts.

- Implements selection procedures for a publisher outside normal government publications channels.
- Selects from NSF records topics which appear to be suitable subjects for monographs or articles to be published in historical or other professional journals.
- Reviews and maintains a file on NSF documents and published news and comments on current events of value as historical records.
- Organizes and conducts research projects assigned or requested by the NSF Director or other high level NSF officials.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED: For AD-4:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. or equivalent experience in historical research methodology plus six or more years of research, research administration, and/or managerial experience pertinent to the position. Professional experience in the field of modern United States history or directly related fields is highly desirable.

QUALITY RANKING FACTORS:

1. Skill in developing a plan for a comprehensive agency history program.
2. Knowledge of and skill in utilizing established methods and techniques of historical research to collect, evaluate, interpret, and/or present historical facts clearly and concisely in writing and orally.
3. Skill in visualizing and anticipating management's requirements for historical information for both current and long-range program planning and policy deliberations, and ability to tailor the scope and emphasis of studies for most effective use by management in making important program and policy decisions..
4. Skill in establishing and maintaining interpersonal relations and communications necessary for extensive conferences, interviews, and discussions with NSF officials, other agency heads, universities, associations, industry, congressional and other leading public figures.
5. Demonstrated writing skill sufficient to produce finished manuscripts of professional quality.
6. Skill in publisher selection process.

BASIS FOR RATING: Final ranking is based on an evaluation of your experience, education and training as they relate to the knowledge, skills and abilities specified in the Quality Ranking Factors. Current performance appraisal, letter(s) of recommendation, and awards may also be used in the evaluation process.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT: Appointment to the position is contingent upon successful completion of the appropriate background investigation. Satisfactory completion of a one-year trial period may also be required.
